

‘Machan Consulting develops Creative Operational solutions for your Business.’

Welcome...

Machan Consulting was founded in 2001 combining 18 years of pharmaceutical and food operating experience and takes a pride in designing manufacturing solutions and systems tailored to your key processes. Based in the Nottingham area and focused primarily on the British Midlands, Machan Consulting has also worked in Eastern European and other European countries.

Machan Consulting provides you with a focused client service:

- Supporting you in thinking strategically about your future process design, looking for robust mechanisms that drive quality, time to market and satisfied customers.
- Project Management support to bring your new developments on line, in time, and to budget.
- Supply Chain design, as procurement issues become more complex and consistent quality actives and excipients are critical to consistent commercial processes.
- Providing a broad-based understanding of cGMP requirements, including design assistance and audit support.
- Critical System Validation support and non-critical good practice commissioning.
- Change control support as process alterations affect product quality.
- Providing easy access to other expertise such as:
 - Human Resource support
 - Health and Safety assessments
 - Process design particularly when scaling up from lab to 1/10th or beyond
 - New Facility build and refurbishment
 - Process control engineering

This service ranges from brief one-day assessment/recommendations for specific issues, through to an ongoing confidential business support.
